Washington—What's behind the trouble the United States is having in Nicaragua? The question is being asked inside and outside of Washington, largely because the American government is unable for diplomatic reasons to come out in the open and call a spade a spade.

The truth is there is a drive on against the United States throughout Latin America in which Mexico is taking a leading part and this instance Mexico has actively taken sides and supported the revolutionary government in Nicaragua for the evident purpose of embarrassing the United States. Evidence on this point has been sufficient for the Washington government to deal firmly with the situation in Nicaragua as a warning against interference on the part of Mexico.

The basic reason for the landing of marines in Nicaragua is the protection of lives and property of American citizens in accordance with national law. The department of state is following the precedents laid down by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan and other administrations in the past. Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, is objecting to the American government's course, but the government against which they are fighting should be permitted to fight it out, unmolested by American influence or force. The American government believes that in this course lies great danger to American interests. Apart from the lives of Americans which may be endangered by the situation develops into a prolonged revolution the property investments involved are large.

MUCH MONEY INVOLVED

The actual amount of money invested in Nicaragua by American citizens to date, according to official figures available here is approximately $2,300,000 of which about three million is held in bonds in the United States. The potential value of property owned by Americans in Nicaragua, is according to the estimates of the owners, such that the total is conservatively placed at $20,000,000. So far as the American government is concerned the principal of protection in the international law extends to a few dollars as quickly as it does to millions.

Some of the companies owned in whole or in part by American citizens are the Pacific Railway company, the Cuyamel Fruit company, the United Fruit company, the United Fruit company, the Central American Exploration company, La Luz and Los Angeles Mining company, Bragmans Bluff Lumber company, Grecia Mines, San Albino Mines, Nicaragua Mining company, Central American Sawmills, Constancia Gold Mines, Bluefields Lumber company and several other commercial firms. Seventy per cent of the foreign trade of Nicaragua is conducted with the United States.

STATEMENT AROUSES FEAR

Senator Borah's opposition which did not come to the surface until a public statement of Friday had been a source of concern to the executive branch of the government. The fear has been expressed that the Borah viewpoint would be the excuse in Latin America for further attacks on the Washington government's policy. The department of state has sought to prevent an open break with the chairman of the senate foreign relations committee but the expressed difference of opinion means that there will have to be a definite cleavage so that the policy of the executive who is alone responsible under the constitution to act in recognition will not be considered abroad as having been weakened.

COOLIDGE ANSWERS CHARGES OF MEXICANS CALLES PARTY SHIPPED ARMS, HE INTIMATES

Message to Congress Says
Mexican Ships and Men
Sent to Revolutionists

Washington — (AP) — Explaining his Nicaragua policy to congress Monday, President Coolidge declared in a special message that munitions of war, supplied the Sacaia "revolutionists," bear evidence of having belonged to the Mexican government.

He added that gun runners to the Sacaia group apparently have been fitted out in Mexico with the "encouragement of Mexican officials and in at least one case sailed under the captaincy of Mexican reserve officers."

The message reviewed at great length the American attitude toward the Nicaraguan controversy which the President said was grounded in the traditional policy of the nation "to take the steps that may be necessary for the preservation and protection" of American lives and property.

ARMS WERE SENT

"I have the most conclusive evidence," said Mr. Coolidge, "that arms and munitions in large quantities have been on several occasions since August, 1926, shipped to the Revolutionists in Nicaragua. Boats carrying these munitions have been fitted out in Mexican ports and some of the munitions bear evidence of having belonged to the Mexican government."

"It also appears that the ships were fitted out with the full knowledge and, in some cases, with the encouragement of Mexican officials and were in one instance at least, commanded by Mexican naval reserve officers."

SACAIA IN MEXICO

At the end of November, the message said, "after spending some time in Mexico, Juan B. Sacaia returned to Nicaragua and, landing at Puerto Cabezas, placed himself at the head of the insurrection and immediately declared himself president of Nicaragua."

No Latin American government recognized him, except Mexico, and since "the revolutionists" were receiving large quantities of arms and ammunition, President Coolidge "deemed it unlawful to prevent the recognized government from purchasing arms abroad," and the department of state lifted the embargo upon arms shipments to Nicaragua.

SET NEUTRAL ZONES

Neutral zones were established by Admiral Letimer the message continued, following "repeated requests from American citizens, from the British charge at Managua and from the Italian ambassador at Washington, for protection. The numerous American interests which have grown up in Nicaragua the message stated, have done so with the encouragement of the present crisis, 'the forces landed by the United States' are requested by the Nicaraguan government which protests to the United States its inability to protect these interests and states that any measures which the United States deems appropriate for their protection will be satisfactory to the Nicaraguan government."

Child Tells Her Father "Secret"—He Kills Wife

Bloomfield, N. J. — (AP) — A "secret," revealed by a 6-year-old child to her father, led to the killing of her mother and the arrest of her father on a charge of murder.

Richard Stringer, 32, the father, who was under arrest Monday told police that when he returned home from work Saturday he found two children, Marion and Anna, alone in the house.

Ann, he said, rushed up to him with a shout. "Daddy," she said, "if you will give me money for candy, I'll tell you a secret."

A few pennies were produced and Anna told her secret. A strange man, she said, had been coming to the house in the afternoons to see her mother.

Stringer told police he left the house and after a vain effort to purchase a revolver in Bloomfield, finally obtained a small rifle in a Newark sporting goods establishment.

On returning home, he said, he questioned his wife, Gertrude, also 32, and, after a quarrel that extended into the early hours of Sunday, he shot and killed her. He then proceeded to police headquarters where he started attaching by calmly announcing "sergeant, I just shot my wife."

Police found Mrs. Stringer dead on the floor of a bedroom in their house with a bullet in her brain. In another room were found the two children, Anna weeping bitterly.

Stringer told police he had remonstrated with his wife repeatedly for coming home late at night.

MARY'S A CREATOR,
MORE THAN SINGER,

Chicago — (AP) — Mary Garden is a creator, rather than a singer, the opera star told an audience at the Woodman theatre Sunday night.

The address was in connection with a concert by a French Choral Society and Miss Garden said that although she had been announced to talk on French music she couldn't because "I am too full of it." She talked therefore on France "for to me, France is music."

STAMPEDE TO EXITS FATAL TO VICTIMS

More Deaths Likely Among Score Hurt Sunday in Montreal Disaster

FEAR CAUSES TRAGEDY

Bedlam Ensues as Dread Cry of "Fire" Is Raised in Audience

Montreal — (AP) — Victims of a movie disaster more tragic than ever flickered on the silver screen, 77 children lay dead Monday, crushed or suffocated by a fire stampede Sunday in the Laurier Palace, a theatre in Montreal's east end.

Monday morning 63 of the little victims had been identified at the city morgue, while 8 others still awaited recognition. Autopsies established that 60 of the children died from asphyxiation. It was crushed and 5 lost their lives from a combination of asphyxiation and burns. One child died in a hospital Monday. More deaths seemed likely among the score hurt.

The tragedy was caused by fear, as the fire which started the rush for the exits was comparatively trivial. The Laurier Palace, a 2-story building with a stone and brick front, seats 1,100. It was well-filled Sunday with the usual large number of children in the audience. Adults also attended. The place has four exits, two at the front, into which the stairs from the balcony lead, and two at the side, opening into a lane which leads to a side street.

START OF FIRE

Sunday's performance, featuring a comedy film "Get 'Em Young," "read by many in light of the disaster," was barely under way when there was a flicker of flame and a belch of smoke from the projection room, beneath the balcony.

Some one saw it—accounts differ as to whether it was a small boy or an usher—and the dread cry of "fire" was raised. Bedlam ensued. The crowd, drawn from the surrounding French-Canadian and foreign district, fled for the exits. Those on the second floor seemed to have reached the open without great difficulty. Those in the balcony, terrified by the billows of smoke and the heat of the flames from below, ran for the two stairways, down which they struggled, swaying and shouting. An usher succeeded in restoring some order to those stampeding down the west side stairs. But on the east a terrible panic developed and it was here that the worst occurred.

PANIC IS REDOUBLED

The tide of children and adults flowing to the street level was suddenly halted. Some one had fallen. With panic redoubled, those behind, feeling the breath of the fire upon them, surged downward and the stampede became a near solid mass of groaning, shrieking humanity.

Children were borne under foot to be trampled. Others were caught and crushed by the pressure of the surrounding adults. Still others, similarly injured, were suffocated. Those in the rear were caught by the flames. Firemen, arriving from the St. Catharines East station, found the stairway inextricably jammed. Firemen tied a rope about the body of one child in the hope that it was the key-lock of the jam but were unable to budge it.

FORM HUMAN CHAIN

Then as the quickest way through, they smushed a hole in the street wall and formed a human chain, passing the victims through the opening.

In the rear of the mass an usher, W. W. Pure, fought heroically but futilely to save the children. He dragged nine little victims to a window and thrust them out in the hope that some were alive. None survived. Almost overcome by the smoke, he was rescued by firemen.

Meanwhile holes had been chopped through the stairs under the jam of bodies. As the victims were taken out they were removed to nearby stores or dwellings. Ambulance surgeons flitted from one to another rescuee.

ALL MAIN HIGHWAYS ARE OPEN DESPITE WIND, SNOW STORM

Majority of Side Roads Are Impassable. Early Reports Indicate

Although a severe wind, appearing in the middle of Sunday afternoon and reaching almost hurricane proportions at one time, traffic on main highways was not seriously crippled Monday, reports from bus and railroad companies indicated.

A fine flurry of snow which accompanied the wind Sunday afternoon let up toward evening.

Despite the light snow fall, the wind piled up drifts which made many side roads impassable. Snow fences did much to prevent blocking of highways, and bus companies employed several crews to keep the roads open.

Buses of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. operating between this city and Kaukauna, and Appleton and Neenah, were maintaining their regular schedule Monday. Although highway 15 drifted considerably in many places, the company had a crew of men working all night to keep the drifts down, and the buses were able to start out at the regular time Monday morning.

The first bus to Green Bay was not dispatched until 11 o'clock because of the doubtful condition of the highway between Kaukauna and Green Bay. The first bus between these two cities ordinarily leaves here shortly after 9 o'clock.

A number of motorists arrived in Appleton from Green Bay Monday morning, but reported that the road was badly drifted in places and that at no time was travel safe and easy. Many cars were reported held fast in snow drifts, and motorists were required to seek aid of farmers.

The Brown bus operating between Green Bay and Milwaukee, due here at 2:15 in the morning from Milwaukee, had not arrived here by 10 o'clock.

The Inter-City Bus line operating between here and New London did not attempt to send a vehicle through Monday morning. Highway 25 was drifted several feet deep in a number of places, and officials of the company reported it would have been folly to attempt the trip.

All trains arrived on scheduled time, railroad companies reported.

Several families of Appleton persons, attending dedicatory services of a church at Dale Sunday afternoon, attempted to drive back to this city, at the conclusion of the services but were unable to get through. They spent the night at Medina, returning to Appleton Monday afternoon.

The value of snow fences was ably demonstrated Sunday, motorists pointed out. Wherever the fences are erected, snow is piled up several feet to the top of the fence, and the highway is comparatively clear. The new wire fence purchased this fall by the county appears to hold the snow better than the old board fences, it was reported.

The temperature did not vary more than three or four degrees throughout the night, reaching the lowest level, 15 degrees above zero, toward morning.

Only streets in the outskirts of the city became seriously drifted, Robert F. Hackworth, survey commissioner, reported. Little drifting took place nearer the center of the city.

A stretch of several blocks on Carver-st., approaching St. Mary cemetery, was impassable Monday morning, snow being piled up here to a depth of from two and one-half feet. A truck equipped with a snow plow called to make much headway there and a tractor was ordered out later in the morning. It was expected that the street would be cleared late in the afternoon.

Practically all streets around the edge of the city were drifted in places, and all trucks and the three tractors owned by the street department were put in operation. About 20 men were added to the regular crew. All streets will be open before evening, Mr. Hackworth believed.

Vocational directors and coordinators, state officials and master and journeymen plumbers will attend. During the noon hour, Mr. Heilig, who is president of the State Association of Vocational Directors, will call a special meeting of the executive committee for the purpose of making changes in the constitution.

EKERN WILL SERVE STATE WITHOUT PAY IN DRAINAGE CASE

Former Attorney General in Case Despite Zimmerman's Stand

Milwaukee — Herman L. Ekern, former attorney general, will have official status in Wisconsin's suit to preserve the lake levels, despite the refusal of Gov. Fred Zimmerman to permit his retention as special counsel for the state.

William George Bruce, president of the Great Lakes Harbors association, said Saturday night he had designated Mr. Ekern as official representative of the association, to co-operate with the association's counsel in this suit. Newton G. Baker, who was secretary of war in the Wilson administration, is also in the suit.

On the heels of the governor's refusal to approve the retention of Mr. Ekern as the state's special counsel, as requested by Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds, came the announcement of Mr. Ekern Saturday, through Mr. Bruce, that he would assist in Wisconsin's suit without pay. Mr. Bruce followed this with the news that he had named Mr. Ekern as the association's representative, in order to "give the former attorney general official standing."

Mr. Ekern told Mr. Bruce over long distance telephone Saturday that he would be in Washington Monday to look after the state's side of the case when testimony is taken before Charles Evan Hughes, former supreme court justice, who has been made special commissioner to hear such testimony.

This suit was brought by Wisconsin against the sanitary district of Chicago, and the state of Illinois as defendants, its purpose being to prevent the diversion of water from Lake Michigan through the Chicago drainage canal and the consequent lowering of the lake levels.

While the lake levels controversy is being fought by Wisconsin, this state has since been joined by Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

Mr. Ekern has taken charge personally and is regarded as the leader in the fight by the counsel from other states. Those best posted in the lake levels controversy consider that his remaining in the case is an important factor in winning it.

Costs Lots Of Money To Enact Law In Wisconsin

Madison — (P) — It costs about $501.62 to make a Wisconsin law.

A study of the figures on legislative enactments and costs in the secretary of state's office reveals that as the average cost of an enactment in the regular sessions of the legislature from 1927 to 1925, inclusive.

While this is the average, the actual cost per statute is increasing. In 1917 the Wisconsin taxpayer got his laws for $339.02 apiece. The next session, in 1919 they cost a little more—$336.56.

There was a considerable jump in the price of laws between that session and 1921, when it cost $328.27 to make one and turn it over to the people. The 1923 session of the legislature again raised the cost per act, making it $357.53. The quotations during the last session was $417.21, a decrease.

On this basis the average increase in the cost of an enactment from 1917 to 1923 was $106.13. It the 1927 legislature continues the increase on the average, then, the products of the approaching re-opened law factory should cost about $723.40 apiece.

A conception of the cost of legislation may be obtained from a table on legislative costs prepared by the state department.

It reveals that the total costs of the legislature were $380,240.37. Older books in the secretary of state's office show that the 1917 session cost $230,198.86, that of 1919 cost $257,648.65 of 1921 $312,205.41 and of 1923 a total of $293,213.65 or an average of $255,165.14 per session.

It cost more than $17,500 for salaries and railway fares for senators in the last session. Assembly members drew $33,000 for pay and travel expense. It cost the senate $21,678 to keep all the bills resolutions and memorials straight and pay the salaries of the clerks and officers who do this. The senate sergeant at arms drew $12,250 for his force of door-keepers, pages and other help. Similar accounts in the assembly were: Clerks, $23,062, and sergeant, $16,065.

The joint committee on finance of the two houses used $2,823 during the 1925 session.

Chaplains who open each day's session with a prayer were paid $630.

It cost more than $60,700 to print and bind the laws, bills and other documents, exclusive of officials publication in newspapers, which cost $32,800.

Postage amounted to $8,065.

DOGS MORE THAN SIX MONTHS OLD NEED LICENSES

Dog licenses shall be paid on all dogs more than six months old on Jan. 1, it is pointed out by John L. Hantschel, county clerk. Licenses are $1 for male dogs and $2 for females.

Such provision is made in the following extract from the new dog law:

"Every owner of a dog more than six months of age on Jan. 1 of any year (the word 'owner' when used in chapter 174 of statutes in relation to property in, or possession of, dogs shall include every person who owns, harbors or keeps a dog) shall annually, before the first of February, obtain a license therefor, and shall pay for such license $1 for each male dog and $2 for each female dog, and $2 for each female dog; such payments to be made to the town, village or city treasurer or his deputy of the town, village or city in which said dog is kept; such treasurer, excepting treasurers of cities of the first class, shall retain out of the moneys thus received the sum of 15 cents for each dog licensed, which fee shall be in addition to his salary."

"The license year shall be on the first day of January and end on the thirty-first day of the following December. Every owner of a dog for which a license is required shall make application for and shall obtain such license before the first of February each year. The sale or transfer of any licensed dog shall carry with it and transfer the license."

MAY REQUIRE ALL BADGERS TO HAVE FISHING LICENSES

Conservation Commission Needs More Revenue, Legislators Hold

Madison—(AP)—One of the early bills that will probably be introduced in the coming legislature session and will affect the state fish and game department of the conservation commission will be one requiring Wisconsin residents to have licenses. At present only persons coming from outside the state to fish in Wisconsin are required to pay a state fee for such a privilege.

While the state conservation commission, Elmer Hall, has at this time no specific legislation to suggest to the legislature, members of his office force are certain that several legislators feel that the commission should be provided with the extra source of revenue that would be set up with licensing of native fishermen in order to further its work of game protection and development of the fish and game in the wild spots of Wisconsin that are becoming popular summering places for persons from all over the nation.

An amendment to the deer hunting and removal limits is expected in the department. At the last minute rush of the 1925 session the legislature inadvertently changed the date of the open season on deer into December, leaving the last date on which deer might be shipped from Wisconsin in late November, so that outside hunters would have had to ship their deer before they hunted it. A ruling from the attorney general's office clarified the matter temporarily and the legislature will probably be asked to change this section for the permanent statute this session.

In addition to these two advance suggested moves, the legislature and the conservation commission will look forward to a myriad group of conservation proposals. How many of these bills there are and their nature is unknown, except for those suggested by the last legislature's interim committee. These briefly propose:

Organization of an interdepartmental committee on stream pollution to cooperate with and issue orders upon industrial concerns dumping waste matter in waters of the state.

Increase of the forest fire prevention fund to $100,000 annually.

Increase of the appropriation for the state forest nursery to $10,000 per year.

Revision of forest fire prevention laws.

For publicly owned forests, i. e., state, county and town ownership and cooperation in the expense of forests.

Forest and game preserve in connection with the American Legion Camp in Oneida County.

FARMERS' WEEK OPENS AT MADISON ON JAN. 31

Farmers' Week, sponsored annually by the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, will be held at Madison this year on the week beginning Monday, Jan. 31, according to an announcement received by Robert Amundson, county agent. A program has been arranged for the entire week. The session will be opened at 10 o'clock Monday morning by Dean Russell of the College of Agriculture. A copy of the complete program has not yet been received.

Mr. Amundson and a number of farmers from the county probably will attend.

JUDGE WERNER TO SEEK REELECTION TO CIRCUIT BENCH

No Opposition Appears in Field as Politicians Review
Situation

Nomination papers for Judge Edgar V. Werner, who will seek reelection to the bench next spring in the tenth circuit, are being circulated. If elected, this would be Judge Werner's third successive term as circuit judge.

Five circuit judges will be elected at the spring election. Besides Judge Werner, the terms of the following expire next year: John J. Gregory, Milwaukee, third branch of the second circuit; Alexander H. Reed, Wausau, sixteenth circuit; Emory W. Crosby, Neillsville, seventeenth circuit; James Wickham, Eau Claire, nineteenth circuit.

All terms of the above mentioned expire the first Monday in January, 1928. The statutes provide that circuit judges shall be elected at the spring election preceding the year of expiration of their terms. The term is six years.

No opposition to Judge Werner has yet appeared in the field and it is not likely that any will, it is reported in local political circles. Rumors were heard several months ago that Attorney M. G. Eberlein of Shawano might enter the race against Judge Werner, but nothing more has been heard since.

Attorney Eberlein Friday refused to make any comment when asked over telephone whether there was any truth to the rumors.

"I have nothing to say," he said. "No other possible candidates have been mentioned to date, as far as can be learned."

The tenth judicial circuit is composed of Outagamie, Langlade and Shawano counties.

There are 20 judicial circuits in the state. Each circuit has one judge with the exception of the second, which has six judges, one for each branch. Milwaukee alone is included in the second circuit.

Methodist Church "Gym" Occupied Most Of Time

"Busy every day of the week and then some," is the slogan adopted by Miss Esther Miller, secretary of First Methodist church, in preparing a schedule for the church gymnasium. The gymnasium is in use practically every evening and every afternoon.

On Monday night, the Junior high school girls, under the leadership of Miss Miller, use the gymnasium for several hours. The girls have formed a Girls Reserves group, which is affiliated with the Young Women's Christian association. The reserves have for their purpose the living of a four square life.

During the first part of the meeting, a short discussion is held on one of the points of the four square life. These points are mental growth, bodily development, individual consciousness and spiritual yearnings. These points bring out the following factors: personal hygiene, courtesy, physical fitness, mental alertness and spiritual development.

Following discussions the girls play basketball or go through physical exercise drills for 45 minutes under the direction of girl coaches from Lawrence college. At the present time there are 20 girls enrolled in the Girls Reserves.

On Tuesday evenings the church boy scout troop, under the leadership of Dr. G. W. Carlson and Harold H. Brown, use the gymnasium.

The seventh grade boys meet in the church gymnasium from 6 to 7 o'clock on Wednesday evenings under the direction of Ross Cannon and the eighth and ninth grade boys from 7 to 8 o'clock. Elmer Root and C. A. Fourness are the leaders. These boys are affiliated with the local Y. M. C. A.

Fremont Lady Never Misses A Day From Work Now

Since Taking Drecto She Feels Fine All the Time.

When the stomach becomes deranged the food fails to digest properly but lies there forming gas, causing a full sensation, when the back aches and kidneys do not function properly, when the bowels are constipated and you have headaches, dizzy spells, coated tongue and the nerves are on edge, get a bottle of the new herbal remedy Drecto from the Drecto Expert at Schilintz Bros. Drug Store and see the change in your condition in a week's time.

That is what Mrs. Paul Milke, Box 16, Fremont, Wis. did, and now she says:

"I'm a button cutter at the Wolf River Pearl Button Works but here of late I haven't been a very fast worker or a very steady worker because I was so sick all the time."

"My stomach was the cause of most of my trouble. I had scarcely any appetite and what I did eat soured and caused me great distress almost as soon as it got down. I also suffered from constipation and female disorders, slept very poorly at night and was weak and rundown in general."

"Reading so much of Drecto I went in and saw the Drecto man and started taking it according to the directions he gave me. I noticed a great improvement after one week and now I feel like a young girl again. All the trouble with my stomach and bowels have been overcome. I sleep soundly at nights and can work as fast as I ever did. I no longer find it necessary to miss time from work for Drecto has put me in good condition in every way. I am so grateful I am only too happy to recommend it to everyone who needs a good, bracing, quick-acting tonic."

Mr. H. W. C. Marr Baker, the well-known expert from the Drecto Laboratories now at Schilintz Bros. Downtown Drug Store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Drecto for best results. Go to see him.

The popularity of Lucky Strikes among those who sing is because these cigarettes never irritate the throat, also because they give greater enjoyment.

Antonio Scotti

The Thrilling Voice of Scotti

This famous baritone recommends Lucky Strike
—Because "It's Toasted"

ANTONIO SCOTTI, famous baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York City, is very careful of his voice and therefore recommends Lucky Strike.

Lucky Strikes have become the favorites of men whose priceless voices thrill their audiences, as they have with the millions, because, first, they afford greater enjoyment and second, they are certain not to irritate even the most sensitive throat.

The world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged, perfectly blended, give Lucky Strikes their richer flavor.

But in addition, a costly extra process—toasting for 45 minutes—develops the hidden flavors of the choicest tobaccos and at the same time removes all "bite" and harshness.

Smoke Lucky Strikes. They give added pleasure—you'll like them.

Buick Ahead Again in the Yellowstone!

Again in 1926, more Buicks toured through Yellowstone Park than any other car except the one of lowest price.

Buick has held this same honor every year since the Park was opened to automobile travel.

This year there were 4,756 Buicks in a total of 44,472 cars registered. 101 different makes were represented in the registrations. One in every ten was a Buick.

Here is convincing evidence of Buick reliability—striking proof of the faith which Buick owners repose in their car.

POLICE TO ISSUE SPECIAL LICENSES FOR CARS IN CITY

Permits Will Authorize Owners to Use Machines Until Plates Arrive

The Appleton Police department this year will issue special permits authorizing automobile owners to operate their cars while waiting for their 1927 license plates. George T. Prim, chief of police, has announced. Application for the license must be made, however, before the police permit can be obtained.

About 300 special police permit plates have been received by the department. They bear the letters A.P.P. designating Appleton police permit, and are numbered from one to 300. Similar to the regular license plates, the letters on the special permits are white, with a dark blue background. A charge of $1 is made for each police permit issued, but 75 cents of this sum is refunded upon return of the plates.

All persons who owned automobiles last year recently received application cards from the secretary of state. The cards already are filled out with the exception of the signature of the owner, which he himself must complete. The application cards, seven in number and attached to each other, must be returned to the Secretary of State, Auto License Division, with the owner's certificate of title and the correct fee.

The certificate of title must accompany the applications or all the cards will be returned, the secretary of state warns. Unless the title is lost or a change must be made on it, another quarter for this detail is not necessary this year.

If the title to the car is lost and it is issued in the name of the present owner, an application for a duplicate must be filled out before application can be made for a 1927 license. The fee for a duplicate is 25 cents.

If the application cards issued to you by the state do not cover the car you are licensing this year, destroy them, and send only your title and the correct license fee to the secretary of state. If the title for the car you now own is not in your name, you must have it properly indorsed by the seller, and the purchaser must sign on the reverse side and send $1 for transfer with the license fee.

If a lien or encumbrance, formerly existing on your car, has been lifted, a clear title will be issued upon receipt of the proof of payment—cancelled note, mortgage, etc. The fee for this new title is 25 cents.

A special form must be submitted by those owners who do not have Wis-

Ways and means of developing greater interest in school spirit were discussed at the meeting. The president, William Lee, was authorized to appoint a committee to investigate the matter of class invitations. The group will report at the next meeting of the class.

MANY SEEK POOR AID IN APPLETON

Early Arrival of Cold Weather Laid to Cause of More Destitution

Because of the early arrival of cold weather and snow and the early completion of construction work in this vicinity, the city has been besieged with more calls for aid than is usual at this time of the year, according to H. E. Schueler, city poor commissioner.

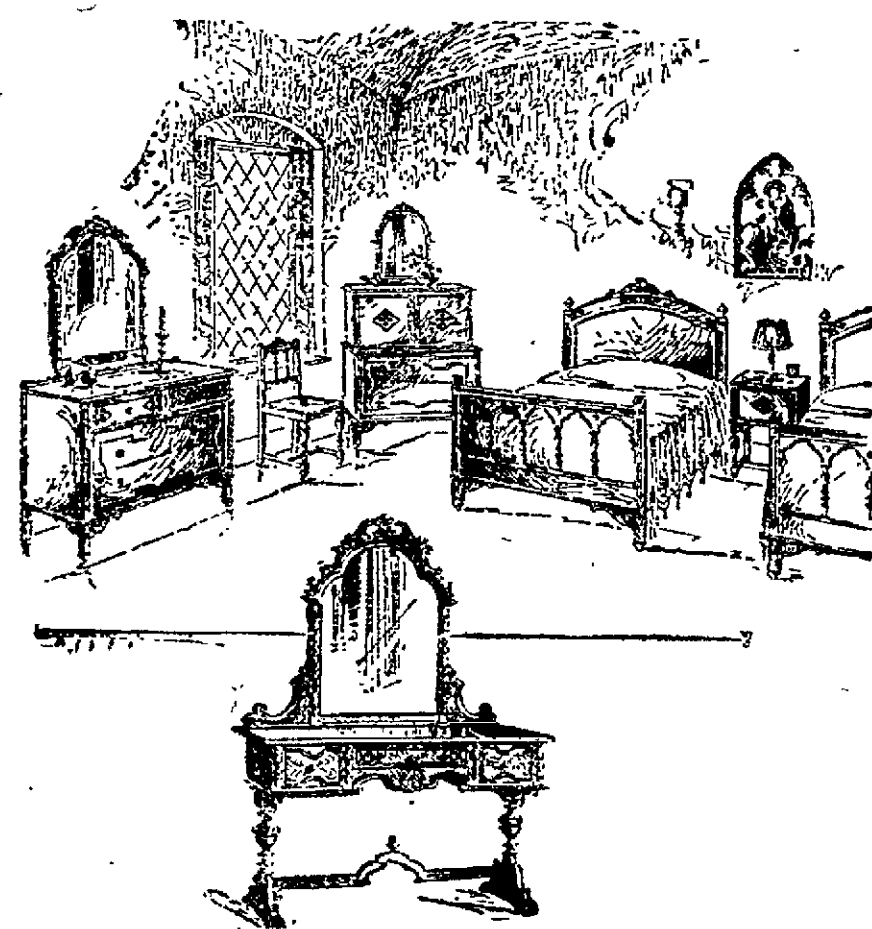

Usually the "floating" labor is employed until Christmas, enabling such persons to make their December finances last until the latter part of January, the poor commissioner said. This year, however, they were out of work early in November and the city had to start furnishing many families with clothing, fuel and food early that month. The November report of the department shows that $1,213 was spent by the department in that period.

The December report has not yet been completed, Mr. Schueler said, but it will undoubtedly be quite a bit higher than November. The first week in January the department received a great number of appeals for help and if the same condition lasts throughout the entire month, a record may be set, according to Mr. Schueler.

consin titles on their cars. The applications may be secured at garages and at the police department.

EKERN AND THE LAKE SUIT

Governor Zimmerman has refused the request of Attorney-General Reynolds that he appoint Herman L. Ekern special counsel to carry on Wisconsin's part in the fight now before the supreme court of the United States to stop lake water diversion through the Chicago drainage canal. The governor did not issue a statement explaining his action, but it is said that he feels the attorney-general's department, with its large staff of lawyers, is competent to handle the case without special counsel, and that he is animated by interests of economy.

We are sorry to see Mr. Zimmerman take this position for two reasons. In the first place, whether true or not, it will be construed in political circles as a reprisal against the Blaine-Ekern machine for its attacks upon him. So far as personal relations enter into government, Mr. Zimmerman would be quite justified in his determination not to restore Mr. Ekern to the state-pay-roll and to deny him any part in his administration. The personal denunciation of the governor by both Blaine and Ekern was inexcusable and calls for no forgiveness. Nevertheless, the public does not like to see grievances of this kind carried into government where service to the state may recommend a different course.

In the second place, it is a well-known fact that Mr. Ekern has handled the water diversion case for Wisconsin in an able and satisfactory manner. We do not know that his continued identity with the suit is indispensable or that it is vital to a successful outcome. A number of lawyers of national reputation are appearing for other states, but this should not cause Wisconsin to weaken its own representation in this contest. Mr. Ekern had given several years of his time to study of the legal and constitutional questions involved, and to a preparation of evidence and all other details. He was one of the most prominent figures in the controversy, and his service has undoubtedly been of real value to the state. No other lawyer can we think, go into the case on such short notice and handle it with equal force. Mr. Reynolds himself is not in a position to do this and it is, as he points out, of vital concern to Wisconsin that the suit be prosecuted with all of the energy and resources at the state's command. This being the fact, the legal expense is of altogether secondary concern. We could with profit spend many times the cost of any special counsel to insure victory, and we can afford to do the same as a gamble.

For these reasons, we would have liked to see Mr. Ekern retained by the state in the case, and we are not so sure but it would have been good politics as well. However, Mr. Zimmerman may have reasons that will justify his course as a matter of public policy, and we trust that this is so. The fact that Mr. Ekern is to remain in the case, other arrangement and without salary, does not relieve the state's obligation in the matter.

EYESIGHT AND DRIVING

As the total of auto accidents increases day by day it becomes easily apparent that more satisfactory methods of examining prospective drivers must be inaugurated. It is not enough that a person shall be able to merely drive a car, but he should be able to drive it well. It is not enough that a person should be able to see somewhat, but his sight should be normal and free from such defects as would make him unreliable as an automobile driver. At present not enough attention is paid to this point and yet it is one which will bear a great deal of regulation with profit to motorists and pedestrians alike.

Charles A. Harnett, commissioner of the bureau of motor vehicles in New York state, has seen the danger of imperfect vision in an automobile driver and he has announced that after January 15 every person applying for a license to operate a motor vehicle in New York must undergo an eye test which has been prepared by an expert optometrist.

The sight of each applicant will be examined just before the driving test and if the examination shows defective vision the applicant will be advised to correct the defect and if the applicant can later pass the test with or without glasses the license will be granted.

This is a step in the right direction. Some forms of eye trouble distort the vision that straight lines appear curved and there are "blind spots" or areas where nothing is registered on the eye when it lies within a certain portion of the range of vision. With traffic increasing so enormously and with the safety of millions of persons at stake it is time that stricter requirements concerning vision were enacted to properly regulate automobile drivers.

RADIO ACROSS THE OCEAN

The Atlantic ocean has been spanned by wireless telephony. The test of the apparatus perfected for this achievement was altogether successful. Men conversed with each other between London and New York, over a circuit of 850 miles of land line and 6300 miles of ether path, with almost the facility they could talk between New York and Boston. Static at first interfered slightly with the transmission, but when it was not present the conversation was audible with remarkable clearness and strength. After the exchange of inaugural greetings, commercial service was opened with a flood of calls between newspapers, bankers and brokers and one deal involving $5,000,000 in foreign exchange was closed. Another firm received an order for one hundred carloads of lumber. A New York woman chatted twenty-eight minutes with a friend in London and her bill was $700. The radio telephone is going to be an expensive luxury for the women.

One would think that the ordinary cable facilities would take care of urgent business and banking transactions between the two continents, but that it is not so where quicker means of communication between distant points is more largely by telephone than by telegraph. Business propositions, negotiations and contracts can be handled more expeditiously and satisfactorily, and closed more readily by conversation. The wireless telephone service between Europe and the United States is of tremendous commercial and economic importance. It is also of great political value. It will bring Europe and the United States closer together than they have ever been before, will improve their commercial and financial relations, and will result in better understanding and more cordial friendship.

However remarkable the feat may appear, we are still in the infancy of radio development. Its uses in another generation would astound us if we could penetrate the future. This is the marvelous age of science, in chemistry, electricity, radio, engineering and medicine. More is being done for the advancement of civilization in a decade than was done in centuries or even thousands of years in the past. How far we shall go in the penetration of earth's mysteries and toward a knowledge of the phenomena bound up in this world and the solar system, no man can foretell, but we appear to be going very far.

LOOKING FORWARD

In the days that were, I said:
"Joy is waiting just ahead,
Happier shall I be then
When I've joined the ranks of men."

Always calling seemed to be
Some new happiness for me,
And when courting her I said:
"Glad I'll be when we are wed."

Joy was found and journeyed on,
Dreams have come and dreams have gone,
Every day has held its own,
Something to look forward to.

Still we dream and still we see
Happier - that is to be,
Still in hope of better days,
Joy still lures us down the years.

Lovely old, and lovely new,
There is much we long to do,
Much we're playing we shall see
In the days which are to be.

LET'S COUNT OUR VITAMINS

First we had better pronounce them vitamins, according to the first syllable and making the eye long. Some people think they are pronounced like vitamins.

As nearly as I can learn, there are about half a dozen vitamins now postulated. They are designated vitamin A, vitamin B, vitamin C, vitamin D, vitamin E and so on. No one has identified a vitamin as yet, and so I say the vitamins are postulated, assumed to exist as substances.

Vitamin A is present in certain fats, such as butter, egg yolk and cod liver oil. Natural sources of vitamin A are fresh milk, spinach, lettuce, water cress, celery leaves, beet greens, turnip tops, radish tops and other leafy vegetables. Carrots and other yellow pigmented roots such as sweet potatoes (contain vitamin A in greater amounts than the red pigmented roots such as beets or white roots such as potatoes, turnips, parsnips or radishes. Yellow corn contains vitamin A, but white corn does not. Vitamin A is present in liver, kidney and sweetbreads but not in muscle or flesh meat and only little of it in animal or vegetable or nut fats in general.

A supply of vitamin A is essential in the diet to enable the body to develop full normal or natural immunity against all (common) respiratory infections, and to prevent ophthalmia, a form of eye disease rarely encountered in the United States but not rare among the poorly nourished children in the orient, and sometimes found in Denmark, Labrador, Japan and Newfoundland. In Newfoundland this ophthalmia has been the cause of considerable night blindness among the fishermen and their families, who subsist for the most of the year on a diet of white bread, pork, salt fish, molasses and cod.

When the diet is deficient in vitamin A, no tears are produced, the eyeball becomes dry, and then ulcer of the cornea or other damage follows. In animals there is a failure to produce saliva and eating becomes impossible because the mouth is so dry. Japanese and Manchurian children suffering from deprivation of vitamin A make facial grimaces as though crying, but no sound. Chickens deprived of vitamin A do not grow, develop ophthalmia and uric acid concretions in the kidneys—the kidneys feel like bags of sand.

Vitamin A is destroyed by oxidation, so that prolonged heating or cooking of foods containing it destroys the vitamin, though ordinary cooking does not necessarily destroy all of it.

Liver is one of the best sources of vitamin A. Ordinary cooking doesn't destroy the factor in liver. Cooked liver as an article of diet, earned a certain reputation as a remedy to lower blood pressure and as a remedy for severe anemia. How much value the food has for these purposes I am unable to say. At any rate it does no harm to eat it frequently.

Vitamin A, then, is necessary for normal growth of young animals or children, for the development of full immunity against respiratory infections, for the prevention of dry eyes, ophthalmia and night blindness (which means inability to see even in dim light or darkness). This vitamin is not easily destroyed by heating or cooking. Good sources of vitamin A are butter, fresh milk, egg yolk, cod liver oil, sweetbreads, green leafy vegetables, carrots, sweet potatoes, bananas.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Pursuit of Healthful Humidity

I read with great interest your advice, "The Sere and Sultry Wife." I wish to ask if I were to evaporate 100 gallons of cold water in each 8,000 cubic feet of space in my home every 21 hours would my coal bill be materially decreased? Would this be beneficial from a health standpoint? Would lack of humidity effect the throat and nose? (G. H. D.)

Answer—In order to maintain a reasonably fair humidity about fifteen gallons of water must be evaporated each 21 hours in 8,000 cubic feet of air. If the household temperature is permitted to rise above 68 degrees, if the temperature gets up to above 70 you must evaporate at least 20 gallons a day. If the temperature is 65 perhaps 10 gallons is enough.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

AN UNCONVENTIONAL LIFE

I notice in the current book lists that Harry Kemp is out with another book that he calls "More Miles." It is described by the publisher as a continuation of the narrative of his earlier book, "Tramping on Life," and describes his life in New York during the past ten years. To quote the advertising notice: "In New York he met noted figures, started new artistic movements. His book is an intimate and bold story of artistic New York and America in the last ten years." I have not read "More Miles" and it may or may not be what the publishers claim for it, but the book's appearance in the publishing lists vividly recalls "Tramping on Life" that appeared a few years ago. If it is like that book, and it probably is, it may be described as having the interest that inheres in anything unconventional if for no other reason than its novelty, but it cannot be said to be great.

RECORDS PICTURESCAPE LIFE

"Tramping on Life" is the record of a picturesque life but not the record of a great life. Its only merit lies in its divergence from the average, but the divergence does not mean anything. In the book Harry Kemp is animated by a passion for disagreement. He is like a person who insists that twice two equals five or at least should equal five, for no other reason than that the whole world agrees that twice two equals four.

"Tramping on Life" created something of a sensation when it appeared a few years ago but I never could see that it had the significance that we attach to books that are really great. It was interesting but after you had read through its 400 pages or more you had the feeling of having spent your time on a personality that does not really count in a large way but that takes itself too seriously.

It is some years ago since I read "Tramping on Life" but that is still very vividly the impression of the book that stays with me. It purports to be a novel, the character's name, if I remember correctly, being John Graham, but the story is very obviously the life story of Harry Kemp himself. It is almost autobiography and is written moreover in the first person.

Harry Kemp has knocked about the world a great deal and "Tramping on Life" tells the story of the wanderings of this literary vagabond. You get the impression that there wasn't a fact that he did not take up. He joined all the colonies that were started in protest against the conventional ways of living—Elbert Hubbard's and Upton Sinclair's, and a half dozen others, ranging from things not far removed from the "Holy Roller" type to things that were not far removed from free love communities. But the funny part of it is that after a little while he invariably gets to think of these colonies as a new kind of convention from which he must dissent.

Then he leaves them and straightaway proceeds in savagely satirizing them, just as his whole book is in effect a satire on conventional life.

HE DESCRIBES SINCLAIR While people like Elbert Hubbard and Upton Sinclair are not mentioned by name, they are described so minutely that no one can mistake them. And the pictures Harry Kemp paints of them make them appear as among the worst frauds of their generation. It is amusing for the moment, but the suspicion always creeps in that, whatever the persons he lampoons may or may not have been, Harry Kemp is very probably a bigger fraud than they all.

Nearly every type he touches is all wrong. When he is thrown into jail as a vagabond the public authorities are grafting crooks. People who live conventional lives are hypocrites and people who live unconventional lives are poseurs. Harry Kemp in his book unmistakably shows an unconventionality complex. He makes a religion of unconventionality.

But mere unconventionality for its own sake is too trivial for greatness. Unconventionality as the inevitable accompaniment of doing great things has often justified itself but when it is the end sought it gives the effect, as "Tramping on Life" does, of being "full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Q. Is it possible to get coins dated in specified years from the Department of the Treasury? C. D. L.

A. It does not keep coins segregated according to years.

Q. When was Christmas first celebrated? V. A.

A. It became a general custom only in the 13th century.

Q. Who got the proceeds of the Army-Navy game? R. K.

A. The receipts of the Army-Navy football game are distributed between the Army-Navy Athletic Association and the South Park Board Commission. The receipts which go to the Army-Navy Athletic Association take care of the expenses of the athletics of the two schools.

Q. In the expression, "each and every" is the idea repeated, or do the words convey different meanings? E. J.

A. It is an example of tautology, that is, the idea is repeated.

Q. What percentage of forest fires are caused by lightning? R. M. T.

A. It is estimated that lightning is responsible for from one-quarter to one-half of the fires in the West, and of the country as a whole, ten per cent.

Q. About how much does a single ration for a man in the Navy cost? W. F.

A. Ration costs are calculated by fiscal quarters, and the average cost for the quarter ended June 30, 1926 was $0.5126. This was a slight increase over the cost for the quarter ended June 30, 1925, which was $0.5085.

Q. When is it too cold to paint a frame house? G. C. F.

A. The Bureau of Standards suggests that no outside painting be done when the temperature is below 50 degrees F. Painting in a frosty, sultry, or wet atmosphere will not produce satisfactory results. This is also true if paint is applied during or immediately after a heavy fog or dew.

Q. How can orange juice be kept? J. W.

A. The cleared juice keeps well after bottling if pasteurized at 180 degrees F. This does not injure the flavor perceptibly.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York — See-sawing up and down Broadway I noted the urelms of that highway taking possession of the great Christmas tree that has stood in Times Square for many days and which, now that Christmas is over, will gradually wither under the glare of a million arc lights. . . .

And I have pondered more than once as I shovled and pushed with the rest of the theater throng just what the tree would think about—if it could think—to find itself transplanted thus. . . .

It has seemed to me that, perhaps, the thoughts would be something like this:

"I am the tree they brought to Broadway. From my tip glitens a small gold star of Bethlehem. But who is to see it? The star eclipsed by all the garish glow of these ugly signs about me. But more than that, it is eclipsed by the moods and minds of the mob. . . .

"Those who see it may wonder why it is not a bigger-and-better star, thrusting its electric rays to the extinction of all other lights. It is not lighted, for no symbol ever is. But men don't care what it symbolizes. Or if they care, they do not think.

"Don't fear, they know what the phony star and the cheating gum sign symbolizes. That is advertising. These are symbols of trade and the get-ahead spirit.

"I am the tree they brought to Broadway. I do not belong here. Somehow I feel more out of place than—no, there are others more out of place here than I. They are the children of the street, who climb to the stand on which they have put no and stare at me, as though I were a freak.

"They are enchanted by the baubles they have hung upon me. They do not get my message. My message is that of the quiet and successful hillside and those who sto me in my native soil can see the Bethlehem star more clearly.

"Why are these children at my roots? The hour is late. The streets are traffic jammed, as was a stream once just below my hillside. The streaming become torrential with the flaming and swoot away all things in its course. So it is with the street on which I stand.

"The children who play at my base have faces all as the world. Their clothes are shabby. They have homes of sorts, I suppose. They have not the minds of children. They have the cunning and shrewd-mindedness of men in child bodies.

"They look at me and wonder and I wonder, too. I wonder if they have ever been to my forest, or any other forest and looked in awe and felt the stillness and the peace and the kinship with the earth?

"I am the tree they brought to Broadway. What am I doing here? Why are all these lights? Why are all these people pushing and shoving when somewhere there is a hillside and the breath of pine and peace and rest?

"I am the tree they brought to Broadway and on my head is the gold star of Bethlehem. And I am willing to stand here on my cross and die before you, if it will but save these children from the night and from growing old, centuries old before their time. But it will not. They have sacrificed me to fulfill.

"I am the tree they brought to Broadway. . . .

Broken Threads

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE - To the home of PIROF and MOLIE ELWELL, in Camdentville, Ind., one night in October of 1898, comes MARTHA DALTON, nurse, bearing a woman who had fainted on the train on which Martha was traveling.

Elwell is an artist. He has a son, JIM, aged 5. Late that night twin girls are born to the woman, whose name, revealing her name, The Elwells adopt the girls.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been named MARGARET and ELIZABETH and nicknamed RUSTY and BETTY.

America enters the World War and Jim Elwell enlists. Two nights before he goes away, the two lovers that he is in love with her. He tells his mother this, but does not tell her which one it is, as he wants her to love both girls equally as well while he is away and in the event he does not come back.

Two days later Jim Elwell departs for training camp. NOW BEGIN THE STORY.

NO MORE the merry song of youth ring out in glad tones in the house of Elwell after Jim had gone away. Barely was Betty's harp ever touched. No longer were laughing voices heard calling from upstairs and down and from kitchen to parlor.

The free and careless spirit of other days was gone from the little home where sadness had been a thing unknown.

Prof and Mollie, badly as they felt, still managed to keep up a brave front, but the girls just couldn't seem to become reconciled to their loneliness. Their big pal, Jim, who never had given either of them a harsh or unkind word, was gone and their young hearts were desolate.

But they learned to stand it. The Elwells, as millions of others throughout the land, learned during the sixteen months that followed.

And many of them who didn't learn then have learned since and are standing it and will keep on standing it for many years to come.

The cards that were drawn by Jim Elwell in the big game of war assigned him first to a training camp not far from Indianapolis. There he, too, was surrounded by every-where volunteers, buck privates and candidates for officers' commissions.

There Jim learned to hate such things as kitchen police, guard duty and setting up exercises. There he learned to leap to his feet at sight of a uniform with gleaming metal on its shoulders.

There he learned that brigadiers were almost as insistent on being saluted as second lieutenants and listened with awe to the strange and bloodcurdling vocabularies of veteran sergeants.

There, too, he learned in time to overcome the feeling of nausea and revulsion that accompanied bayonet practice, when young men were transformed, some of them, into demons that stabbed and tore at the dummies with strange and fearsome looks in their eyes.

He learned how to pick out the vital spots on the dummies, learned to twist and tear with his bayonet, learned from some of the veteran instructors that the best way to disengage your rifle when it had transfixed an enemy was to pull the trigger.

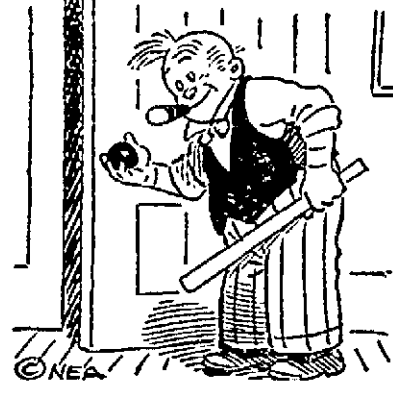

In short, he learned soldiering - modern soldiering. He experienced the agonies of close-order drill - beneath a scorching sun, executed squads right and squads left, learned to call them "squads east" and "squads west," toiled with a shovel digging dirt and came in time to place a high value on a cigarette and on the rest periods that came so infrequently.

The uniforms that were handed to them when they first arrived in camp were sights to behold. They bulged where they should have fitted tightly; they gripped snugly where they should have bulged; the hastily distributed shoes were misfits and produced blisters and kindred torments.

His second day in camp Jim and his squad mates took pictures of one another and sent them home.

STAGE And SCREEN

LAUGH AND YOU WILL ALWAYS BE HEALTHY

Bessie Delmore, famous as the comedienne with Charles George's elaborate revue, "The Sensations of 1927," which plays at Fischers Appleton Theater, Thursday, Jan. 13, has changed the old saying "Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone."

"You said it," corroborated an undersized soldier who chose that moment to flop down on Jim's bunk. "Look at me. I was workin' behind a quick lunch counter in Cleveland when I got the urge to sign on the dotted line. You think they'd make a man out of me? Well, a man who's cooked up as many short orders as have, but I ain't even had a taste of K. P."

"You can do my trick for me tomorrow, Burns," said Simmons quickly. "No, thanks. I ain't askin' for it. I'm merely offerin' evidence to prove that the damn army's 'unsentimental. Gimme a cigaret."

It seemed Burns went out, that over in C Company the boys were out of luck. "The Commandin' officer over there learned the boys had a big crap game. Somebody told, some dog robber. The old boy hauled in half a dozen of the fellows an' asked them to spill the beans. Even asked each one to tell how much he'd lost and won. An' when he added up the figures an' found that the accounts didn't balance, he ordered the whole bunch put under arrest. Seems these six or seven fellows he hauled in took all the blame an' said they were the only ones in the game. He knows they're holdin' out, but they won't tell on the others."

"I'm sorry for 'em. They're gonna put the whole gang of 'em on fatigue. The C. O. musta had a bad night or somethin'. He's gotta disposition like an ingrown toenail."

Jim offered his sympathy. "Such," he observed, "are the fortunes of war."

"Yeah," agreed Burns. "Who's got the dice? I've got twenty bucks that's burnin' a hole in my pocket."

It could burn, said Simmons. He wasn't anxious to share C Company's tough luck.

"Wait'll we get to France," Burns said, feeling sure that there wouldn't be so particular over there. "I wonder how in the hell long we have to stay in this place, anyway. Why don't somebody inform the War Department that the war's over in Europe and not in Indiana?"

"When we do get over there," Simmons remarked, "we'll probably be doing K. P. and setting up exercises behind the lines. That's a fact."

A loud voice rang out through the barracks. "Private Elwell!"

"Front and center!" Jim came a-running.

"You're wanted at headquarters," the orderly told him. He had a sheet of paper in his hands. "Stay right there," he ordered, "until I see where these other dudes are. Private Gachet! Private Kelly! Corporal Smith!" He went on down the short list.

"All of you birds are wanted at headquarters, pronto."

"How come?" someone asked.

The orderly grinned. "I ain't supposed to know nothin'. I gotta round up a lot more yet. If you ask me -" and he winked, "I think you're gettin' travel orders."

comedy seriously. And the more serious I am the more the audience laugh."

But Miss Delmore has more in her favour than any comedienne appearing before the public today. She not only sings and dances, but she has a beautiful figure and wears clothes wonderfully well. In the last scene of "The Sensations of 1927," Miss Delmore surprises her most ardent admirers by appearing in a gorgeous creation which Mr. George had designed for her in Paris. Her appearance in this gown never fails to bring applause from the amusing lines and situations for Miss Delmore, to say nothing of several comedy songs which she delivers in her own inimitable way.

So go and see Bessie Delmore in "The Sensations of 1927" at Fischers Appleton Theater, on Thursday, Jan. 13, and you will leave the theater full of joy of living and agreeing with this remarkable artist that so long as you laugh you will always be healthy and happy.

CIRCUS PICTURE TO PLEASE ALL. A photograph of circus life that will hold a genuine air, for every person who remembers his childhood and the spell that the circus cast over them, opened a three day's engagement at the New Bijou today. It is "Christine of the Big Tops," based upon a story which appeared in recent issue of one of the big circulation magazines.

Its romantic love story of the little trapeze artist and the young, circus doctor who had drifted there after fainting at his first operation, almost losing his patient, is so human and sympathetic and believable that it alone makes the picture decidedly worth while. But aside from the romance there is the picture of back-stage life at the circus, with its humors or its minor and big tragedies. The owner of the circus is a love with Christine; he had helped Hagan, a friend of the girl's parents, to bring her up, after the circus "had got" both her father and mother.

This thrilling and appealing story is exceedingly acted by Pauline Garon and Cullen Landis as the young lovers; Otto Matisch as her foster father and Robert Graves as the circus owner. "Christine" is a picture you won't forget and one that will entertain you for every minute while it is being flashed up on the screen.

A fender was badly smashed and the tire carrier on an automobile driven by Ralph Dorn, 129 N. Story-st. was broken about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at the intersection of S. Cherry-st and W. College-ave, when the rear end of the machine was struck by a car driven by Hector Fisher, 379 First-ave. Neenah. The Dorn car had stopped for the arterial, but the Fisher car, which was close behind, slid over the icy road and crashed into the Dorn machine, in spite of the fact that Mr. Fisher had applied his brakes, according to Mr. Dorn.

King you!

YOU live better than any of the kings of old. Where you switch on the electric light, he had a smoky torch. You go to bed on springs—his couch rested on planks. A few overworked minstrels were the best he could get together when he wanted music. You turn a dial and a great symphony fills the room. And today, a thin copper wire carries more power than his scepter ever boasted.

YOU have a thousand kingly comforts that the emperors of distant days never knew. To what magic power should you offer thanks? Turn the pages of this paper to the advertisements!

Advertising tells you about each new invention, every improved product that comes on the market. It describes what these new products will do, where to get them, and just how much you should pay for each one. It helps you purchase wisely and economically. Through it you hear — far sooner than the fastest courier of ancient times — what's new!

Oh, Mister! Isn't She Some Queen?

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

"Hello Faith," Chris Wiley lifted his tall, thin body from a deep leather chair and strolled toward the sisters nonchalantly. "Sorry our elopement has gotten us all into this mess. We didn't dream there was any trouble until we read the papers this morning. Won't you shake hands?"

Faith tightened her arms about her weeping little sister and shook her head slightly. "Id—Id rather not, Chris."

"Pardon me, Faith," Bob Hathaway appeared in the doorway of the library. "The coroner is ready to proceed. He has given both of us permission to hear the case."

"Don't let them think horrible things about me, Faith," Cherry begged, clinging frantically to her sister. "The two officers stood at their elbow as they separated, Cherry to be led in seclusion in one corner of the library, Chris Wiley in another."

In the drawing room were scores of people, among them Alexander Cluny and his wife and son, young Ralph Cluny, an assistant district attorney. Near the great bay windows, rich with heavy silk draperies, and only a few feet from the long table at which Coroner Murchison and his jury of six were seated, was a bier on which rested the sheeted remains of Ralph Cluny. That bier was the first thing that met Faith's eyes as she entered the room on Bob Hathaway's arm, and she shuddered as she turned her head sharply away.

A full half hour was taken up with preliminaries, including a report of the first officer of the law who had entered the death chamber after Bob Hathaway had reported his discovery of the murder to police headquarters. Dr. Enos Paxton, chief medical officer of the county, called in by Dr. Murchison, the coroner, testified briefly. He also indicated a large Chinese vase, broken at the lip as the instrument of death.

"It is then your opinion," the coroner er summed up, "that death occurred between half past eight and a quarter to nine on the evening of November 23?"

"It is," Dr. Paxton nodded. "That," declared the coroner, himself under oath, "corroborates my own findings, as the first medical man to examine the body. Officer Sims, have the maid, Mary Kearney, brought in."

There was a stir of interest, a muted flurry of whispering throughout the ranks of spectators, who included Chief of Police Murchison and Charles Danning, district attorney. Everyone present knew that Mary Kearney would be the star witness for the state, when the case would be brought to trial. And it would be largely upon her testimony that the findings of the coroner's jury would be based.

After she had been sworn, Coroner Murchison began his questioning. "What is your name?"

"Mary Anastasia Kearney, sir."

"Your age?"

"Thirty-three, I mean, thirty-six," she remembered her oath and corrected herself hastily, but with an involuntary glance at the doorway in which two policemen lounged.

"Your birthplace?"

"Dublin, Ireland, but I've been naturalized. I have my second papers."

Mary Kearney answered deliberately. "Now, Mary, what is your occupation?"

"I have been parlor maid in Mr. Ralph Cluny's house for three years, sir. Before that—"

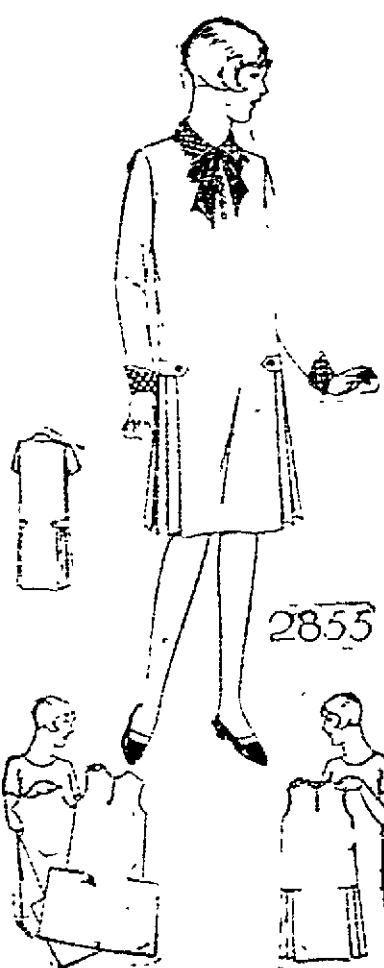

"All right, Mary. Now, tell us, in your own words, just what happened, within your own knowledge, in this house, from eight o'clock on, on yesterday, Thanksgiving Day."

TOMORROW: Mary Kearney begins to weave the net that is to snare Cherry Lane Wiley.

KEEPING AHEAD OF YOURSELF

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

WE talk about keeping two jumps ahead of the devil or the sheriff or other unpleasant celebrities—but how about keeping a good jump ahead of ourselves, speaking of New Year's resolutions.

Our chief national crime is wasting time. I don't mean laziness or thumb twiddling. I mean poor judgment in using our life, doing things we needn't do, and neglecting things that should be done. We get ourselves into a sort of occupational jam.

"I'm too busy," is getting to be our greatest alibi, when as a matter of fact we should say, "I'm a poor manager of my time. I can't get round to things."

I'll admit it is confusing! Such a hodge-podge of things to spend our time on! What we all need is a special course in the art of discrimination. We should learn to pick out the things that are of the most use to us in life and stick to them—make a definite program of procedure and stick to it. Throw out what you don't need and learn to exercise quick judgment.

Do you stock up last month's magazines and the month's before so you can read them before you tackle the ones just out? Will the new ones be ancient history by the time you get to them?

Don't do it! Make a quick decision. Throw out your old magazines and start right in on today's. I know a woman who subscribes for a New York daily that is big enough to choke a hippopotamus. She goes to Europe, the daily arrives—daily—and is stocked up for her. When she comes home she can't get into her library. She is chronically reading her beloved paper every minute she is at home, often six weeks old.

We waste time in deciding things that do not matter—the pattern of a deck of cards took a woman in a store half an hour to choose. She didn't know whether she liked a girl in a field of daisies or a Spanish dancer. Another woman couldn't tell whether her nephew would prefer socks with yellow dye or red and black checks. Everybody in the aisle was trying to make up nephew's mind for her.

It costs the stores a double personnel force—this indecision—and the public pays for it.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

T HEN Clowdy Tinymites was dry, he lough, said, "I guess that I have had enough of skating. Now about the rest of you?" The skaters stopped to think a bit, then said they guessed they too, would quit. Said Scouty, "Who'll return the skates, just as we promised to?"

"Oh, let's all go," someone replied. "We'll run along and slip and slide. 'Tis best we thank the old man who so kindly made the loan." So, up the hill they started fast. "Course Clowdy was the very last. He fell each time he took a step until it made him groan.

"Sucks, I'll wait here," he finally said. "The rest of you go right ahead, return the skates, and you will find me here when you come back." And, as the others disappeared, poor Clowdy suddenly got skinned, "cause near at hand he heard a bark, and then a big whin crack.

In just a moment, o'er the bill, he saw a sight that brought a thrill.

Two husky dogs were coming. They were hitched up to a sled. A man was running by their side. 'Twas funny that he didn't ride, but simply ploughed on through the snow, just like the dogs, instead.

They raced along to beat the band, and when they came up close at hand, the man spied little Clowdy, and he pulled the dogs up short.

"Say, are you lost?" the big man cried. "How would you like to have a ride? You're welcome to my dog-sled, 'cause you seem a friendly sort."

The man was then surprised to learn about the rest, who'd soon return. Said he, "I'll wait and see them, if they're all as small as you." So down he sat, upon his sled. "I'm glad you came," wee Clowdy said, " 'cause we can talk." That's what they did, for 'bout an hour or two.

(The other Tinymites meet the dog-sled man in the next story.)

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Grape fruit sections, cereal, thin cream, fried cornmeal mush, syrup, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Potato and turnip puree, toast sticks, open lettuce sandwiches, canned peaches, sponge cake, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked turbot of fish, tartar sauce, scalloped potatoes, buttered parsnips, cabbage and celery salad, pineapple cream pudding, bran rolls, milk, coffee.

After parsnips have been frozen, they are much better than if frozen before the frost penetrates through the ground. The flavor, as well as the texture of the vegetable is improved. If you used parsnips early in the fall without success, try them now and notice the difference.

POTATO AND TURNIP PUREE

Four white turnips, four potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 bouillon cubes, 1 blade celery, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 4 cups veal stock or milk, 2 hard-cooked eggs.

Choose small turnips and potatoes and boil until tender. Put through a vegetable ricer or rub through a coarse sieve. Melt butter with bouillon cubes and celery very finely minced. Stir in flour mixed with salt and pepper. When perfectly blended slowly add stock or milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add diced vegetables. Stir and bring again to the boiling point. Pour into a soup tureen and add hard-boiled eggs cut in slices. Minced parsley or tiny sprigs of chives sprinkled over the top of the soup adds to the attractiveness of the dish.

CHARLESTON TO DOMINATE

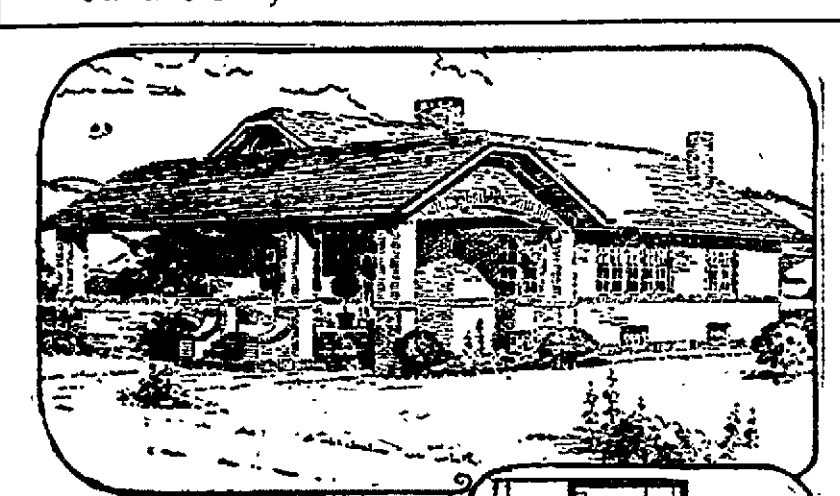

London (AP)—The flat Charleston that is the Charleston minus the hills, will dominate fashionable clubs throughout London this winter, says Adele Astaire, the American actress who is fascinating the British capital by her dancing in "Lady Be Good."

"Most persons do not look particularly graceful when dancing it," adds Miss Astaire, "but then the hour of its dancing is yet young. People who just pick up the Charleston will never make a success of it. It has to be learned properly to be danced well."

FOR Rheumatism

LITTLE BUNGALOW HAS PLENTY OF ROOM, FIRE PLACE IS FEATURE

THE prospective home builder who is looking for a bungalow of five or six rooms will find many features in this plan that will interest him. While, as shown, this plan calls for six rooms, back bedroom can be eliminated without disturbing the rest of the plan. This room also may be converted into a sleeping porch or sun-room.

The living room is ample and lighted by casement windows on two sides. There is a fine fireplace, with built-in book shelves on one side and the entrance to the dining room on the other. The den, if desired, may be used as an office or study and on occasion as a bedroom. The living room, dining room, and den, connected by wide openings, make a fine combination for social functions.

The kitchen is of good size and well arranged. Cabinets on both sides of the sink as well as over the refrigerator in the entry, take the place of a pantry. The basement stairs descend from the kitchen, while over them a stairway leads to the attic where there is plenty of storage space.

The bedrooms and bath are agreeably separated from the balance of the house. They are well supplied with windows and have good exposure. There is an ample linen closet off the hall.

There is a well-lighted basement

BLUE CAGERS WHIP LAKE FOREST IN CONFERENCE OPENER

Christophmen Display Improved Game To Win League Battle, 26 To 23

Work of Briese, Grove, Sundt Features Victory of Fighting Blues

Showing an improvement over any play they have exhibited this season, Coach George Christophmen's Lawrence college cage hopes opened their Wisconsin-illinois conference season Saturday night by upsetting Lake Forest college of Lake Forest, Ill. in its own hall. The final score was 26-23. Briese, Sundt and Capt. Grove, veterans, led the Blues both on the offense and defense and the remainder of the team displayed better play.

Briese's shooting and defensive work again was outstanding, the big Blue guard dropping in several long tries. Heidenman, Clark, Bent, Hillman, Portz and Sundt all were worked at the forward posts, while Sundt, Grove and Hanke tried the jump ball. Briese, Hillman and Grove were used at the guards in an effort to hit on a smooth-working combination. Capt. Coble was the star for the Foresters. Lake Forest meets Ripon Friday in its next conference game.

PLAY OSHKOSH FIVE
Lawrence cagers will open a two-game series with Oshkosh Normal school Tuesday night, playing the first game at Oshkosh. The return game will be played here on Jan. 18. As the result of the arrangement, the Marquette-Lawrence game scheduled for Appleton on Jan. 18 has been postponed to Mar. 1. The Lawrence-Oshkosh contest Tuesday night will give a definite comparison of strength of three state college teams this year. Oshkosh twice beat Deloit by two-point margins and lost to Ripon by a small count last week.

HORTONVILLE CAGERS WIN TWO EASY GAMES

Hortonville—The strong Hortonville high school cage five defeated its rival the Little Chute high school in Appleton Friday evening by a score of 23-8. Capt. Mace led in the scoring with seven points and Heltzerhoff had six. A. and C. Versteegen and Vandenberg each got a ringer for the Chute men.

The city team defeated the Kaukauna Boosters in another battle Friday night, 39-21. Morgan led Hortonville with nine field goals and Vandenberg and Bowers led the invaders with five and four each.

Some Coaches Of Big Ten Have Long Service Marks

Chicago—(AP)—Changes in the football coaching staff at Northwestern University, where Glenn Thielthwaite has resigned to accept the head coach's job at the University of Wisconsin, directs the spotlight of interest again on the Big Ten schools where some coaches come and go but many go on forever.

Amos Alonzo Stagg of Chicago, the grand old man of the Midway, and Fielding H. Yost of Michigan, are two in the latter class. Stepping right along for similar honors are Dr. John W. White of Ohio State and Bob Zuppke of Illinois; the latter two are approaching fifteen years of service at their institutions.

BADGERS BATTLE OHIO STATE FIVE IN BIG TEN GAME

Second Strong Contender for Crown Faces Badgers After Hoosier Tilt

Madison—A sturdy band of basketballers from Ohio State University, one of the leading aspirants to the Western Conference cage throne, arrived here today to supply the second chapter to Wisconsin's Big Ten basketball record of 1927.

Both Wisconsin and the Buckeye quintet will enter the encounter tonight well conscious of the battles they waged Saturday against their respective Indiana and Purdue.

Bulging with scrapping players who made 1926 a banner year for the Buckeyes in football, the Ohio State aggregation has blazed its way to unqualified victories in five pre-conference tilts, sweeping before its path Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio University, Princeton, Cornell, and Pittsburgh, with an average of 38 points a game in contrast to 21 of their foes.

Against the short-past, five-man defensive tactics of the Cardinal troupe, the Buckeye line-up—Harold Olson, former pupil of Coach Meany of Wisconsin—will employ his unyielding man-to-man style of playing and aggressive scoring machinery.

In addition to its renowned an iron-clad defensive team Ohio State also enjoys distinction for its ability to register baskets with surprising rapidity. Badger fans, although realizing the power of the Buckeyes, are entering the contest with confidence in their own team's continuing engagement of their favorite performers.

Hectorne, Buckeye pivot gifted with range, is likely to make it miserable for Wisconsin with his knack for shoving the oval into the cage while totting in its shadows. Captain Merkel and Barnum have been designated to keep the Ohioan in his place.

Behr and Andrews will handle the forward posts for Wisconsin, and McMillan and Grim for Ohio State. Responsibility for warding off the Badger advances rests with Hunt and Fennel.

FRENCHMEN FIRST IN KIMBERLY CAGE LOOP

Kimberly—Courchane's Terrible Frenchmen took first place in the Kimberly Friday Evening Basketball league by a 17-6 win over Bourassa's Sidney Swedes, and Schwank's Fast Five defeated Montenson's Lumberjacks by a 14-3 count. Schwank's Fast Five and Bourassa's Swedes are tied for second place with a win and loss apiece and Montenson's Lumberjacks hold cellar position with two defeats. In the first game Schwank's Fast Five had clear sailing after the half which ended 6-5 in their favor. Berger was high scorer for the Fast Five with three ringers and DuPont, left forward, got two. Schwank and Schellout one. P. Verbeten caged the Lumberjacks only basket and De Wildt got the free throw.

In the second game the Frenchies also had an easy time after the half which ended 8-4 in their favor and allowed the Swedes only one basket while scoring four baskets and a free throw. J. Verbeten and Courchane starred for the Frenchmen, the former caging four baskets and the latter three. Pogan got the other basket and free throw. Bourassa caged two baskets and Molitor one for the Swedes.

MONDAY FIGHTS

Chicago, Ill.—Henry Leonard, Chicago vs John, Philippine Island.

New York—Sergeant Sammy Baker, N. Y. vs Henry Goldberg Brooklyn (10).

Boilermaker school, and Minnesota is developing under the tutelage of Dr. Spears, who has served two years at the Gopher seat of learning.

The continuous service records of the Stagg and Yost are equalled at few big schools in the country.

Six of the most spectacular games on the football schedules are played between teams under direction of the four veteran coaches. This is especially true this fall when Michigan and Chicago will meet after a lapse of years. Among the games that thrill the mid-west are the Michigan-Illinois game; Michigan-Ohio State; Michigan-Chicago; Illinois-Ohio State; Chicago-Ohio State; Chicago-Illinois.

The teams of Stagg, with 34 years of service at Chicago; Yost, with 26 years at Michigan, and Vilco and Zuppke, the youngsters of this group of veteran play, play their games in magnificent stadia, the stone shoulders of which are reared high enough to accommodate more than 60,000 spectators, each, the Ohio stadium holding 90,000, with temporary seating arrangements.

CRUICKSHANK WINS LOS ANGELES MEET

Wins $3,500 Prize With Card of 282; Walsh Fails to Place

Van Nuys, Calif.—(AP)—Dobby Cruickshank of the Progresso club, New York, Monday was richer by $3,500, a diamond medal and the praise of goldsmen as the result of his brilliant victory in the second annual Los Angeles $10,000 open tournament. He won the Pacific Coast classic Sunday with a card of 282 for the 72 holes of play.

While the diminutive Scotchman trekked over the difficult El-Cabellero Country club course to his triumph, Cooper of the Los Angeles, last winner fell behind the ten prize winners. Cooper found the 17th and 18th fairways so closely matted with spectators that he lost his usual control and fell far below par. He turned in a card of 286.

Cruickshank's card for the 72 holes was 70-71-74-67. Charles Guest of Hollywood one of the youngest professionals in the tournament took a 288 to share second place honors with Ed Dudley of Oklahoma City. They divided the $1,500 second and $1,000 third place prizes.

Another result when Al Watrous of Grand Rapids, Mich., and John Farrell of Manassas, N. Y., each turned in cards of 289. They split $750 and $500 fifth prizes.

MacDonald Smith of Great Neck, N. Y., John Black of Wichita, Kas., and Eddie Loos of Glenview, Ill., each turned the 72 holes in 293. As a result of the tie the $350 sixth and $250 seventh and eighth prizes were split among them. Then came Leo Diego of New York with 294 to take ninth place. John H. Jones of Kelso, Washington, with one stroke more won tenth place.

To Neenah goes the honors which once belonged to Appleton, that of entering the first man in the senior division of the annual Post-Crescent golf tourney. For the blank of Ephraim, Wis., 18, 216 Grant-st. Neenah, was selected by the Skating Editor Saturday afternoon, before any Appleton entry had been filed. The races took on an entirely color for the first time but only between Neenah and Appleton as no other cities have sent in entries. A second Neenah entry received Saturday afternoon was that of William Schmidt, 14, who entered the junior boys events. His address is 135 Third-st.

Entries in the races close at six o'clock Thursday night just three days away so that skaters who desire to get in the race for the gold medals donated by the Post-Crescent have just about two hours to get in. All one has to do is to clip the slip on the spot page of the Post-Crescent each evening, fill it out and mail or bring it to the Skating Editor of the Post-Crescent, but a few minutes work for a chance at a fine medal or cup. Someone is going to get the awards pretty easily unless the skaters of Appleton and vicinity play up their ears and get in the running or rather skating.

SHEIKS, BEARS TIED IN K-C CAGE LEAGUE

Kimberly—Gossen's Sheiks and Vander Zander's Bears retained their tie for first place, Le May's Buckeyes held on to second place, Vic's Frenchmen dropped to third, and Schness's Midgets and Ted's Aces all share cellar honors in the Kimberly Boys Saturday morning basketball league. In the games Saturday morning Le May's Buckeyes defeated Schness's Midgets 10-4, Vander Zander's Bears tripped Vic's Frenchmen 9-4, and Gossen's Sheiks walked away with Ted's Aces 33-7.

In the first game LeMay, Williams starred for the Buckeyes and Schness scored the Midgets' four points. Huntington with four points was highest scorer for the Bears and Courchane and Cavit got a ringer apiece for the Frenchmen. In the last game Gossen scored seventeen of his team's thirty-three points and LeMay scored six of the Aces seven points.

In the junior league Rusty Wildcats led their third win from Hopkins Stars in an exciting double over time period game by a 5-3 count.

The percentage and sportsmanship average of the league teams:

	Pct.	Spts.
Gossen's Sheiks	1.000	396
Vander Zonden Bears	1.000	299
Le May's Buckeyes	.667	297
Vic's Frenchmen	.333	297

Kimberly—Lefty's Aces, an undefeated cage squad of Kimberly kept its slate clean in a game with the Terrible Frenchmen, leaders of the Kimberly Friday Evening Basketball league, by defeating the Frenchies 22-16 Sunday afternoon. Both teams showed plenty of action although the Aces held the lead throughout. Gossen and P. Verbeten with four baskets apiece shared shooting honors for the Aces and Vander Zonden and Gokey played good games at guard. Bourassa and J. Verbeten caged three ringers apiece and Courchane two for the Frenchmen.

Appleton High Gridmen Face Tough 9-Game Card In Coming Fall Season

Orange Battle Every Conference Foe, Kaukauna and Shawano in 1927

1927 SCHEDULE
Sept. 21—Appleton at Shawano.
Oct. 1—Fond du Lac at Appleton.
Oct. 8—Appleton at Marinette.
Oct. 15—East Green Bay in Appleton.
Oct. 22—Sheboygan at Appleton.
Oct. 29—Appleton at Manitowoc.
Nov. 5—Appleton at West Green Bay.
Nov. 12—Kaukauna in Appleton.
Nov. 19—Open.
Nov. 21—Oshkosh in Appleton.

A nine-game schedule including seven valley conference battles, the hardest ever attempted by an Appleton high school football squad in years, lies before the 1927 Orange gridmen as the result of plans made last week at the conference meeting at Green Bay. After a prolonged discussion it was decided to adopt schedules whereby every school in the circuit will play every other team, giving each squad seven conference battles.

The plan was adopted so that a conference title could be fairly decided at the end of each grid season, with every team playing seven games, the same number and every team playing every other team.

Marinette and West Green Bay tied for the title. The new system also will hush the complaints of Marinette and other strong teams, which claimed that the their rivals in drawing up the schedules picked the soft spots so that they could win the title, leaving out the other strong foes.

Marinette especially made this complaint. Several schools opposed the new resolution at first but finally voted for it. By the new plan West and Marinette will meet next year rather than tie as was the case this last season.

The new schedule gives Appleton five home games, four tough strong conference squads, and the annual Kaukauna struggle. East Green Bay, West Green Bay and Marinette, the only teams to lead the Orange this year in the percentage column have the longest card with 10 games each. Fond du Lac opens the season here on Oct. 1 and East Green Bay, Sheboygan, Kaukauna and Oshkosh complete the card.

Two-year contracts with Shawano and Kaukauna forced the Orange to take a nine-game card, but hereafter it will be eight, local official, said. The seven conference games and Kaukauna or some other strong outside team will complete the card. Vausau, Wisconsin valley champs, asked Appleton to come there next fall with a large guarantee to the local school for the game but it had to be refused because of the full card and the Shawano contract. The Shaws were the only card that Appleton could drop for Vausau and the contract prevented that.

Two foes which Appleton met at their strongholds in the last games will again be played there, because of the difficulty in arranging the new type of schedule for the first time. Appleton will invade Manitowoc and Marinette. Marinette was not played last year, but the Orange took a bad trouncing there two years ago. With Appleton playing Marinette on Oct. 8 the game should draw a large crowd, a thing Marinette home battles are noted for, and the local school will gain financially. The game also had to be transferred to Marinette because of a Lawrence game here on Oct. 8.

Oshkosh which played here last year will bring team of vets to Appleton for the last game of the season on Thanksgiving day, another game which will draw a large crowd as it usually does, especially as the Savdusters will have a fine squad. Kaukauna plays here on Nov. 12 in another important battle. As a conference card, the Orange schedule is especially hard with six straight loop games with Fond du Lac, Marinette, East Green Bay, Sheboygan, Manitowoc and West, all of which are among the leaders in loop circles each year.

A report was made by C. G. Stangel, Manitowoc high principal, at the meeting telling what awards conference schools give for various activities. Managers receive letters with small $1's below at the local school the report showed. Baseball swimming and tennis receive no awards, and football men receive a large plain block letter for participation in half time of half the game. Basketball men receive small ornate letters for half time in half the games and cross-country and track men receive elaborate letters.

Appleton men at the letter meeting were J. R. Walsh, faculty sport manager, and H. H. Heible, principal. Joseph Shields coach, did not attend. Mr. Heible was retiring president.

Eight Appleton men, largest number chosen from any one city, were named among the officials of the conference for the grid season, as well as three former local men. The Appleton men include Vernon White, Warren Wright, John Zussman, George Christophmen, F. D. Gebhardt, H. L. Plummer, Myrtle Basing and Eddie Kotol. Former Appletonians are Gerhard Kubitz, and Hertel of Manitowoc and John McLaughlin, Green Bay.

Christianism of Menominee will referee two Appleton games with the others scattered among five men. The referee, umpire and head linesman respectively of each local game follows: Oct. 1—Fondy at Appleton; Stangle of Manitowoc; Joe Sheboygan and Peters, Manitowoc; Oct. 8—Appleton at Marinette; Christiansen, Menominee, Peters, and Managan; Oct. 15—East at Appleton; Christiansen, Stangle and Dean, Two Rivers; Oct. 22—Sheboygan at Appleton; Dean, Ratke, Milwaukee, and Peters.

Oct. 29—Appleton at Manitowoc; Radtke, Meo and Bray, Valders; Nov. 5—Appleton at West; Davey, Oshkosh, Waterpool, Marinette and Dean; Nov. 12—Oshkosh at Appleton; Doehling of Ripon, Stangle and Peters.

Other officials are Schenck, Mehn, Woodin, Smith, Murray, Miller, Doyle, Borgstrom, Coffeen and Westfall. The complete valley schedule follows:

SATURDAY GAMES
Citizens Bank 21, Coated Paper 16.
Kaukauna "Y" 17, Riverside Paper 9.

Upsetting the dope bucket completely, the Citizens Bank team of the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball league smothered the strong Coated Paper Co. squad under a blanket of long baskets Saturday evening to win by a score of 21-16. The Coated men were favorites to win and strengthen their hold on the first division with the weakened Bankers as the foe but the long-distance shooting of the Citizens was too much to overcome. In the other game of the evening, the Kaukauna "Y" crew whipped the Riverside cellar team, 17-9 in a game played under protest because of a new man in the Kaw lineup. The protest will be threshed out at the next loop meeting.

In the opener the Bankers took a 13-6 lead at the half with Herb Vockes dropping three ringers. He led his team in scoring for the game with five baskets and a free try for 11 of 21 points. Many of the ringers were hard shots. Walter Vockes added three baskets and two extra points and Carl Vockes dropped one through from beyond midcourt. The win moved the Bankers from sixth to a tie for fourth with the Kaw "Y" crew and shoved the Coated men from fourth to sixth. The Kaw "Y" rose from fifth to fourth by its win, so closely ate the teams bunched this year.

Kneip led his team in the score column with four ringers, every two-pointer scored by the team. In the other game the eagle eye of diminutive Glenn Miller gave his squad four baskets. Farwell added two and Welch and St. Mitchell one each. Frieders, Courtney, Gardner and Brock scored one apiece for the losers. The score at the half was 6-3 for the Kawmen.

13-pipers trains in Italy are being equipped with wireless telephone apparatus.

DRIPPING ABSINTHE IS SEEN AGAIN IN PARIS

Paris, (AP)—The old familiar drip from the absinthe spoon is seen again on the boulevards.

Absinthe is a prohibited liquor in France but there are plenty of substitutes that look and taste like it and there are, of course, some absinthe bootleggers.

The absinthe drinker takes about a fourth of a goblet of the imitation absinthe. The old "spoon," with perforated bowl and an extension beyond, is placed across the top of the glass. On a lump of sugar in the bowl, water is poured, a little at a time. The "drip" of this sugared water into the absinthe streaks the green liquor with pearly white. Two or three times as much water as absinthe is poured in slowly until the drink is milky white. The long, slow dripping of the finished product keeps the absinthe drinker busy for an hour.

Ons have returned to Appleton and Seymour where they are attending high school.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Falk and sons of Leeman, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Marx Friday evening.

Waupaca—Probably the most notable gathering in this city during the holidays, was the family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeLong, 509 W. Fulton-st., residents of Waupaca for the past 24 years.

Mr. and Mrs. DeLong have reached the advanced ages of 90 and 83 respectively, and have raised a family of four boys and four girls who were all present on this occasion. There are also nine grandchildren and four great grandchildren; making four generations present.

Old photograph records made by the members of the family at their last reunion in 1901 were played and caused a great deal of merriment, and the house was turned into a veritable picture gallery—old pictures dating back to childhood were scattered about. The children appeared in youthful garb and spoke some of their old-fashioned pieces recited in the old school days. The grandchildren entertained with readings while an orchestra composed of Mr. J. S. Eva and his family gave the modern selections, and many reminiscences of the family were given by the different members of the family.

Perhaps the most noticeable feature of the whole affair is that there is not one bobbed head among them—not even mother's.

The guests were as follows: The children: Albert H. DeLong, contractor and builder, Albany, Ore.; W. W. DeLong, architect, Appleton; Delmer D. DeLong, telegraph operator, Soo Line depot, Waupaca; Malcher L. DeLong, Gold Place, mining business, Butte, Mont.; Mrs. C. G. Ginner, Waupaca; Mrs. J. G. Otis, Ashland; Mrs. S. R. Wason, Wason Flats, Mont., and Mrs. J. S. Eva, Ashland. The grand-children present were: Earl DeLong and Mrs. J. M. Kamik, Appleton; Archibald and Loren Ginner, Waupaca; Maurine, Chester and Vernon E. and Gale Otis of Ashland, and one great grandchild, Don Ginner, Waupaca. Other relatives present were J. G. Otis, Ashland; J. E. Eva, Ashland; Mrs. W. W. DeLong, Appleton; Mrs. Archibald and Mrs. Loren Ginner, Waupaca, and Mr. J. M. Kamik, Appleton.

The reunion lasted the entire week from Christmas to New Year day inclusive. On Friday, the day before New Year day the eight children went by bus to Dale, and from there went by horse team and harness to one made north of Dale where they visited the old DeLong homestead. On the same day they left for Appleton where they spent New Year day with the family of W. W. DeLong.

STATE SENATE HAS MANY VETERANS TO
DO WORK THIS YEARAssembly Will Open Session
With Many New Members
Taking Seats

Madison, (AP)—While the assembly in the 1927 session of the legislature is somewhat lacking in veteran members, the state senate makes up for this lack with a large percentage of members who have been in the small hall one or more sessions.

Of the house membership of 100 only 44 were re-elected. But in the senate there are only nine who have never before served in that body. Out of both figures there are several who have had previous legislative experience, but in the senate the members have been assemblymen and in the assembly a few were in previous sessions.

Eleven of the present members of the senate served in the 1923 session and 23 of the present assembly members are again on the rolls this year.

In 1921 thirteen of the present assembly members were sitting in that body. Only six of the 1921 senate members are again on the rolls this year.

Going back to the 1919 legislature three of the present assembly members are found and one senator of the current group is listed. He is Herman J. Severson, Iowa, Republican lawyer, representing the 23rd district, composed of Portage and Waupaca counties. The three veteran house members who can hark "way back to '19" are James C. Hanson, of the third Dane county district, a farmer near Deerfield; Herman Roethel, of the Second Manitowish county district, a retired farmer of Kiel; and William H. Edwards, of Sussex, retired farmer, representing the second Waukesha county district. Mr. Roethel according to the old legislative handbooks, has not been in the sessions since that of 1919.

Mr. Hanson was in the '19, '23, and '25 sessions and Mr. Edwards, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for speaker of the assembly, was in the sessions of '19, '21 and '23. Mr. Roethel sat with the house in the same years as Mr. Hanson.

There are five assemblymen who have served in each session since and including that of 1923. They are Gustav Zittlow, farmer, of the second Brown county district; Thomas H. Conway, of the first, Theodore Ingel, of the fifteenth, and Frank Prescott, of the eighteenth Milwaukee county district, and Anton M. Miller, representing Outagamie county's second district.

Among the veterans in the Senate are the names of the presiding officer Lieutenant Governor Henry A. Huber and Mr. Severson, whose name is in the roster of the senate for every year since and including 1919. Mr. Huber's name is in the house manual several times.

Mr. Severson is the only five-session senator listed. Those who will serve for the fourth consecutive time in this session are: Oscar H. Morris,

'MARABOUT' AND 'CAGMAG'
MAYFAIR'S NEW SLANG

London, (AP)—Mayfair has developed two new slang words which are not being worked overtime.

"Marabout" is one and it is used to describe anything old-fashioned or odd. It is a very elastic word, however, and at the Kit Cat club it was heard applied to everything from one's enemies to a drink of which someone did not approve. It is a noun.

The other word is a synonym of "marabout" and is used both as a noun and an adjective. It is "cagmag," a variation is "cagmaggy."

fourth district, Milwaukee; William A. Titus, eighteenth district, Fond du Lac; William L. Smith, 21st district, Neillsville; and Tierman T. Lange, 28th district, Eau Claire.

A list of the senators by districts shows an almost regular grouping of the veterans with the first, third, fourth and fifth districts having triple session men; two districts following with new men and the eighth to 14th inclusive having one-year veterans and the last five districts alternating between three and two-session members.

The nine newcomers in the senate are: Sixth district, A. C. Ruffing, Milwaukee; Seventh district, Herbert H. Smith, Milwaukee; Eleventh district, R. Bruce Johnson, Superior; Thirteenth district, William Markham, Horicon; Fifteenth district, George W. Blanchard, Edgerton; Seventeenth district, C. W. Hutchison, Mineral Point; Twenty-first district, W. S. Goodland, Racine; Twenty-fifth district, Otto Mueller, Wausau; Twenty-seventh district, Robert Caldwell, Lodi.

Special to Post-Crescent

Clintonville—The high school basketball squad travelled to Antigo on Friday and defeated that high school team by a 19 to 15 score. Guarding was so close on the part of the Clintonville team that Antigo was forced to shoot from a distance, thus holding down the score. The Orange and Black were in the lead in scoring at all times. The score was 4 to 2 at the quarter, 10 to 8 at the half, and 15 to 12 at the third quarter. Kruse led scoring with seven points for his team. Coach Quinn said that this game was the fastest his team has played this year. A number of Clintonville fans made the trip to Antigo to support the team.

CITY TEAM BEATS ANTIGO

The Clintonville city team defeated the Giles Post colored team of Chicago at the local armory Friday evening by a score of 28 to 14. The colored five was good on team work, but failed to get up close for shooting on account of the tight guarding of the local team. Brookins, captain of the Giles Post crew, was a star for his team and brought in most of its points. Ramsey gave the crowd a surprise when he showed himself able to outjump Schwanke of the local quintet at center.

The Giles Post team had in its lineup Brookins, Higgins, forwards, Ramsey, center and Trautman and Hudson, guards.

The Clintonville city team played its usual positions, with Dantzler, Bruley, Schauder, Carter, Schwanke, Schweers, Jesse and Bohman in the game.

Next Monday evening the city squad will meet the Appleton Aces in the armory here.

ISO=VIS

the new (constant viscosity) motor oil

Made for You!

If you are a motorist who appreciates a smooth running car—Iso-Vis was made for you!

Iso-Vis is a motor oil that is new—and different. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) developed it to meet the new theory of scientific lubrication—solving the greatest of all lubrication problems—dilution in the crank-case.

You may not have much technical knowledge of dilution, but you probably have paid for it in money and in worry! Thin oil—engine unprotected—repair bills! It's an old story!

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has solved the problem of dilution by developing Iso-Vis. This remarkable new motor oil does not thin out as other oils do. It protects the engine from start to finish, and it gives you the smoothest motoring—even in winter weather—that you have ever enjoyed. In extremely cold weather, Iso-Vis "Light" is recommended.

Iso-Vis costs a little more per quart but it decreases the cost of lubrication and subtracts lubricating troubles. Try it!
